JAMES A. FATHERS,

Mayor.

R. M. CUMMINGS,

Councilman.

C. K. MULTIMORE,

Councilman.

Attest, J. P. HAMARLUND, City Clerk.

By their action this morning the Janesville council has placed the retail liquor business of the city on a strictly business basis. Not only have they restricted the number of licenses to be issued next July to forty, but they have also created a liquor zone, seven blocks in length and two blocks wide, in the heart of the retail business district.

The movement was made in the interest of general public welfare and meets with the approval of the majority of the retail liquor dealers of the city. While some thirteen liquor licenses have been cut off, two were taken away some months ago, it really works no hardship on any individual and meets with general approval.

Even the retail liquor men themselves have admitted that there have been too many licenses issued in the past and by restricting the number to forty these will be more honest competition and no necessity to resort to tricks of the trade to acquire business. It is in the interest of the men in the business who desire to conduct their business on business lines.

In taking this action at this time the council have given all holders of property whose places will be outside the zone prescribed, to close out their business and make other arrangements for the future. This is in accord with the general demand for creating a zone for this line of business for the self protection of the liquor men themselves.

The following is the list of retail liquor shops that will be affected by the resolution and also those that are immune through location.

ICEBERGS REPORTED IN NORTH ATLANTIC

Revenue Cutter Detailed to Warn Vessels of Danger Near North Banks.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, April 8.—Icebergs are again adrift in the northern Atlantic near the spot where the ill-fated Titanic went to the bottom a year ago. The steamship Krunland, which arrived today from Antwerp, reported that she had received wireless information that the steamship Russia had sighted the last week in latitude 42.5, longitude 59. The Titanic struck a berg on April 15, last, in latitude 41.15, longitude 50.14. The revenue cutter Seneca left New York last week to patrol the paths of the transatlantic travel off the Grand Banks and warn ships of this danger to navigation.

GERMAN EXPLORERS PERISH IN NORTH

Poor Equipment Causes Failure Of Schroeder-Stranz Expedition and Members Are Reported Dead.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Christiania, Norway, April 8.—Failure has overtaken the German Arctic expedition under Lieut. Schroeder-Stranz. Most of the members are believed to have died from exposure or scurvy and the commander-in-chief is missing.

Four of the men have succeeded in returning to Advent Bay, Spitzbergen, and two others probably are safe at another point. The aviator and cook died from starvation. Nothing has been heard from Lieut. Schroeder-Stranz since he started on a sledge expedition alone in August last year. Captain Ritschel brought the first news of the fate of the expedition in January when he returned to Advent Bay in a deplorable condition and was thought to be the only survivor. A dispatch from Spitzbergen has revived hopes that a few others may be alive. Among the party besides the officers and crew were several German scientists including a geologist, a biologist and oceanographer.

Experience of polar work was almost entirely lacking and the equipments were said to be very poor. The intention of the party was to pave the way for a more important expedition under Lieut. Schroeder-Stranz who was to endeavor to make the northeast passage later this year.

MEXICANS CONTINUE FIGHT NEAR BORDER

Rival Forces in Hotly Contested Fight Near Arizona Town—Several Americans Wounded.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The new schedule calls for a wage of $67.50 for seven months for drivers and $2.50 a day for the first seven months of the year for helpers.

FARM AUTHORITIES DISCUSS MARKETING AND FARM CREDITS

President Charles Van Hise of Wisconsin University, Is Prominent Speaker at Chicago Meeting.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Chicago, April 8.—The first national conference on marketing and farm credits which means to seek a remedy for the evils existing in the marketing of farm products and for a more equitable distribution of them, opened here today for a three days' meeting.

The organization was effected in Texas in 1911, but this is the first time representatives have been brought together with the authority to form concrete plans for obtaining the results desired.

Agricultural schools and colleges, state university leaders of agricultural organizations, farm journals and the agricultural department of the government are represented at the conference.

Seek Market Bureau.

One of the main purposes of the conference is to seek the creation of a bureau of markets of the United States government, with annual appropriations sufficient for the proposed work and carrying with it a member of the president's cabinet. Another purpose is the organization of the fruit growers of the middle west into a selling agency and of agricultural editors to champion the marketing plan and to conduct a campaign of education among farmers and the consumer.

Those in attendance at the conference are to have the benefit of the best thoughts that can be brought to bear on the related problems.

POPE PIUS SUFFERS A SERIOUS RELAPSE

Temperature Rises to 100 Degrees During the Night—Complete Report is Ordered.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Rome, April 8.—Pope Pius suffered a severe relapse in the course of last night. He was very feverish, his temperature rising to 100 degrees. Prof. Ettore Marchiafava was with him for an hour. After a thorough examination the physician insisted that the pontiff should take complete repose and forbade him even to receive the usual daily report on Vatican affairs.

Fatiguing Receptions.
In connection with the relapse suffered by the pope it is reported here that in consequence of the two lengthy receptions of pilgrims given by him yesterday he was overcome by extreme fatigue. The two receptions obliged the pontiff to remain for several hours without moving. In the course of the evening he suffered a slight fainting fit. After a few minutes the pope recovered consciousness and spoke to those surrounding him.

Temperature Diminished.
Although the pope's temperature had diminished somewhat during the forenoon his holiness remained in bed and the doctors insisted that he must not rise today. The only persons besides the physicians who were permitted to see the pope were Cardinal Merry del Val, papal secretary of state, and the sisters and a niece of the pontiff.

Baltimore, April 8.—August Hohman, 16 years old, was killed and sixteen persons injured when a car of the Light Street line jumped from the tracks on the Long bridge over the Patapsco River today and plunged into seven feet of water. One of the injured may die.

Windows were broken in the struggle for freedom and while persons near by who had been attracted by the crash ran to their assistance the panned-in passengers fought their way to freedom. Rescuers laid planks from the bridge to the roof of the car which was about half submerged. Over these the wet and bleeding passengers were assisted and those requiring medical treatment were taken to the hospital.

POPULAR ELECTION OF U. S. SENATORS NOW AN AMENDMENT

Connecticut's Ratification Today Completes Necessary Three-fourths of States Required.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, April 8.—Direct election of United States senators became one of the provisions of the constitution today by Connecticut's ratification of the amendment to that effect. Thirty-six states, the requisite three-fourths of all in the union, have approved the change.

Governors to Notify.
It remains only for the governors of all states which have stood favorably to formally notify Secretary Bryan and for him to issue a proclamation announcing the change. The amendment to the constitution is the second within the last few months.

Connecticut Ratifies.
Hartford, Conn., April 8.—The proposed amendment to the federal constitution providing for the popular election of United States senators, was ratified by the general assembly today.

It was approved in the house, 150 to 77, and passed the senate unanimously.

RECOGNITION RESTS WITH UNITED STATES

European Powers Await Bryan's Decision With Reference to New Chinese Republic.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, April 8.—Recognition of the new Chinese republic by the United States and other world powers was still problematical today.

With the meeting of the Chinese constitutional assembly scheduled for this afternoon no official word was forthcoming at the White House or the state department early today as to what the United States proposed to do.

It was taken as settled that neither Great Britain nor Japan would recognize Yuan Shi Kai's government at this time, and there was some doubt if other powers would do so before further evidence of a single republican government had been given.

When Secretary Bryan moves, then a week ago formally notified all the diplomatic representatives in Washington that the United States intended to recognize the new republic today, he suggested that all their governments do likewise. It became apparent soon, however, that there would be no concerted recognition and all attention today was turned upon the action of the United States.

First Parliament.

Peking, April 8.—The first parliament of the world's youngest republic was inaugurated today and general rejoicing not only in the Chinese capital but throughout the country. The scene of the gathering of the joint inaugural session of the members of the senate and house of representatives was a venerable one. Five hundred representatives out of a total of 596 and 177 senators out of 274 all of them earnest looking men of mature years and nearly all dressed in European fashion with frock coats silently awaited the appointed hour of opening.

As the clock struck eleven several bands played the national anthem while the assemblage rose to its feet. The senior members of the house of representatives then made a few congratulatory remarks to the notable gathering and formally declared both houses open. Scenes of enthusiastic jubilation followed before an adjournment was taken until April 12.

WOMEN TRY TO RUIN OLD DUDLEY CASTLE

Historic Landmark is Object of Militant Suffragettes' Fury in England.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Dudley, Eng., April 8.—Militant suffragettes early today attempted to blow up the ruins of historic Dudley Castle, parts of which date back to the eighteenth century.

The inhabitants of the town were awakened by a loud explosion coming from the direction of the castle. A large force of police was dispatched there and on searching the surrounding grounds found some chemicals and blasting powder. Most of the powder had failed to explode and the damage done was not serious.

Two old siege guns weighing a ton were thrown out of the embrasures of the castle by the explosion. Many of the windows of a group of adjacent cottages were broken, but none of the inmates was injured.

"Votes for Women and Damn the Consequences" was painted on one of the old cannons and "In honor of Mrs. Pankhurst" on another. A quantity of suffrage literature was scattered about, the police found no clew to the perpetrators. One account of the explosion says that the suffragettes loaded and fired one of the big guns that was a relic of the Crimean War. It was a Russian cannon captured at the siege of Sebastopol.

Active in London.

London, April 8.—Another campaign of destruction was started today by the militant suffragettes of London against mail boxes. Hundreds of boxes were rendered useless and much mail was destroyed by the use of acids, ink and burning rags.

Sails for Post of Duty.
Mobile, Ala., April 8.—Peter J. Hamilton, recently appointed by President Wilson as judge of the United States district court of Porto Rico, sailed today for San Juan to take up the duties of his office.

PRESIDENT DELIVERS MESSAGE IN PERSON

WILSON RENEWS CUSTOM ABANDONED A CENTURY AGO WHEN HE READS HIS FIRST MESSAGE ON TARIFF.

MOST NOTABLE EVENT

Galleries of the House Are Packed With Distinguished Guests Anxious to Hear President's Official View on National Question.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, April 8.—President Wilson stood on the speaker's rostrum in the hall of the house today and personally read his first message to congress, the first president since John Adams to avail himself of that prerogative.

The renewal of a custom a century abandoned and now surrounded by such wide differences of opinion among members of congress itself, attracted to the capital an assemblage necessarily less in numbers but certainly no less distinguished than the company which attended the president in.

Distinguished Audience.
Galleries were packed with national figures. Mrs. Wilson and her three daughters and the women of the cabinet circle, were prominent among them. The diplomatic gallery probably contained a representative of every nation with an envoy in the foreign corps here. Distinguished public men who have received the thanks of congress and were therefore entitled to be on the floor of the house, availed themselves of the right, conspicuous among them being Admiral Dewey. A moving picture machine was installed to preserve a record of the historic event for the government archives.

President Wilson, in his first message, House quietly after the cabinet meeting accompanied only by his secretary and one secret service man, and upon arriving at the capitol was escorted to the rostrum in the house where Speaker Clark sat at one side and Vice President Marshall at the other. The president, speaking with his usual clarity of tone and notable diction, read his message, while the company actually present in the chamber gave the closest attention.

In Various Galleries.
Speaker Clark had among his guests in the speaker's gallery Mrs. William McCombs, Mrs. Victor M. Dock, wife of the new progressive leader in the house, Mrs. A. M. Palmer, and Mrs. Pittier, sister of Mrs. Clark, and her daughter. So unusual was the event that Superintendent Wood of the capitol installed a moving picture camera to take moving pictures of the extraordinary scene.

The film will be preserved as a historic record of the day's proceedings. Secretaries Lane, McAdoo, Daniels and Garrison took seats in the executive gallery of the house for themselves and families to hear the president read his message. Secretary Bryan said he had another engagement for the same hour and could not go. Mrs. Wilson and her three daughters took seats in the executive gallery. The cabinet was in session today at the regular hour but it was ready to adjourn to permit the president to leave the White House for the capitol at 12:30 o'clock.

Democrats at Caucus.
How to steer the new tariff bill through congress to the statute books is the question now confronting democratic leaders of the administration. Early today the democrats met in caucus, but immediately adjourned to await the message of President Wilson. After providing for working committees of the executive branch will consider the tariff bill as introduced by the ways and means committee.

Chairman Underwood has stated that the question need not be determined at once, as the bill could be separated into sections at any time the house deemed it expedient to take such action.

Changes in the rules of the senate advanced by the members of that body as designed to make the senate more thoroughly "democratic" in fact were subjects of consideration for caucus today. The changes as prepared by Senator Kern, the democratic leader, are expected to divest committee chairmen.

President is a Person.

President Wilson began his message as follows:
"I am very glad, indeed, to have this opportunity to address the two houses directly and to verify for myself the impression that the president of the United States is a person, not a mere department of the government hailing congress from some isolated island of jealous power, sending messages, not speaking naturally and with his own voice—that he is a human being trying to co-operate with other human beings in a common service. After this pleasant experience I shall feel quite normal with all our dealings with one another."

The president was cheered, as he mounted the rostrum and shook hands with Speaker Clark. When he began to speak, however, there was intense silence in the great room, the president speaking in an ordinary tone of voice as he explained his coming in person to deliver his message.

The Dangers of Thoughtless Buying

The dangers of many of thoughtless buying are many. "A man loses his time; that comes early to a bad bargain," runs an old German proverb.

You lose more than your time, for heedless purchasing means wasted money, effort and thought. Poor quality is high at any price.

"How can I avoid it?" you say. "I want the best my money will command, but I cannot know all qualities." Surely you cannot know everything about articles, you buy, but you can trust safely to the honesty of merchants of known worth.

Buy the best your money will command in stores where you can rely on those selling the goods with the help of THE GAZETTE. Read daily the advertisements of the merchants advertising in THE GAZETTE and profit by what you read.

FREE SUGAR WILL BE DISASTER TO STATE

FACTORIES REPRESENTING MILLIONS OF DOLLARS INVESTMENTS WOULD BE PUT OUT OF BUSINESS.

AFFECTS THE FARMERS

Is Of Vital Interest to Rock County Where Thousands of Acres Of Beets Are Grown Yearly.

Announcements made of the plans for the new democratic tariff schedules relative to a free sugar have caused more than a little uneasiness throughout the sugar beet growing district. Just what it would mean to Rock county and all of southern Wisconsin is hard to conjecture. The fact that the contracts offered to the local growers by the sugar companies seeking acreage have clauses in them offering a bonus if the democratic congress does not pass an adverse sugar measure, show the gravity of the situation.

Whether the passage of such a law would cause the factory of the Rock County Sugar company here to close down and abandon operations is not certain, but such a thing is a possibility. If the Janesville factory should close, it would mean the others in the state would also go out of business and the loss to the farmers generally could not be estimated. Not only would the farmers be directly affected but the hundreds of workmen who find steady employment for four to five months each year in the big plants during the winter season when work is slack elsewhere.

The following figures relative to the 1912 production of sugar beets and beet sugar in Wisconsin give an idea of the magnitude of the operations in this state alone and what loss it would be to the state in general should they all go out of business.

Production in Wisconsin—Sugar beets, 800,000 tons and 72,000,000 pounds of sugar, for which the producers received $3,055,000, acreage 23,317, and the industry is just beginning. Estimated that 2,000,000 acres of beets can be successfully grown in Wisconsin.

Factories—Five in number, Rock County Sugar company, Janesville; United States Sugar company, Madison; Chippewa Sugar company, Chippewa Falls; Menominee River Sugar company, Menominee, Mich.; Wisconsin Sugar company, Menominee Falls. The Pope Company, Riverdale, Ill., also handles much of the Wisconsin product. These plants represent an investment of at least $750,000 each.

Mr. M. R. Osburn, manager of the Rock County Sugar company, said today:

"The eliminating of the duty on sugar to take effect on its passage would mean the closing down of the local plant as soon as it completes its next campaign. The local factory has contracted for a large amount of acreage for the season of 1913 and under its contract it is obliged to buy from the growers such beets as are grown in accordance with the contract. If the factory is obliged to close down by reason of free sugar, it would of necessity remain closed until conditions become such that growers can afford to produce a crop of beets at such a price that would warrant the factory buying them, which would be about $2.00 per ton less than they are at present paying. The conditions arising that usually follow free trade, whereof wages and farm products are reduced one-half in price, then the grower could produce a crop of beets at one-half his present price and still make as large a percentage of profit as he does now under present conditions, so that such factories as are able to hold on might be able to start up again. That seems to be the only outlook for the beet sugar industry if the tariff is removed on sugar.

"The government for many years has paid large sums of money to promote the beet growing industry so that now this country is producing 25 per cent of its sugar, and sugar is lower in price than it has been in the history of the country.

"The placing of sugar on the free list would mean the destruction of millions of dollars of property which would be worth little more than junk on the market, and ruin the beet growing industry, which has cost millions to build up, the amount of which loss cannot be approximated.

"The idea of the reduction of the tariff seems to be to injure the trusts. This, however, is an erroneous conception as the only ones to be benefited by the reduction of tariff would be the meters or so-called trust, who do not produce any sugar but merely melt and refine it. It is the desire to have less duty on sugar the ideal plan would be to allow to those people who produce sugar a certain percentage of sugar in free for each pound of sugar produced. This would be an incentive to increase the beet growing and cane growing in the United States, and the country would soon be on a basis to produce all its own sugar, which it should do. This system of sugar tariff is carried on by the Canadian government and the sugar industry is rapidly increasing in Canada so that Canada eventually will produce all its own sugar."

According to Richard C. Wagner, president of the Wisconsin Sugar company, with whom many Rock county farmers have made contracts for the coming season:

"Beet sugar factories representing investments of millions of dollars in Wisconsin would cease to manufacture beet sugar, thousands of men would be thrown out of employment, and the loss to the state would be enormous should the tariff on sugar be removed during the present administration."

"In Wisconsin, our factories at Madison, Chippewa Falls and Menominee Falls, each representing a capital invested of over $750,000, would no longer produce beet sugar. These factories use 60,000 tons of beets during the four months' season and each produces over 15,000,000 pounds of sugar."

Need Tariff Protection.

"Beet sugar production can be developed to supply the entire demand of the country. It increased 1,500 per cent since the present tariff was enacted in 1897. There are seventy-two beet sugar factories in the United States, owned by thirty-nine independent concerns. These factories represent an investment of $80,000,000 and produce over 1,200,000,000 pounds of sugar. When these factories stop operating the market will close for sugar beets. Many farmers are engaged in the production of beets. The effect of abolishing the market would be disastrous. The beet sugar industry needs protection because it is only partly developed and because farm and factory wages in all other sugar producing countries are less than one-half the wages paid for the same work in the United States.

"The present agitation over the tariff question already has had disastrous effects throughout the country in the beet sugar industry. In Wisconsin the sugar farmers, together with the Merchants and Manufacturers' association of Oshkosh, had raised $200,000 for the erection of a factory in that county. All further work on the project has stopped. Should the tariff be reduced the factory will not be built. Those conditions exist in many states.

Eastern Men Agitators.
"At present 75 per cent of the sugar consumed in the United States is refined from raw sugar imported by eastern companies. These companies are the only agitators for free sugar. They would be the only ones to gain by it. It costs these eastern companies $7 a ton to refine the sugar which they import. Importing 3,000,000 tons annually, $21,000,000 is spent in the United States for these industries while $180,000,000 leaves the country to pay for the raw product. The government collects approximately $50,000,000 by tariff. The beet sugar industry in this country, manufacturing 1,000,000 tons at a cost of $70 a ton distributes $70,000,000 in the country annually.

"Should the tariff on sugar be reduced to 1 cent, as is being agitated, this reduction would still have a serious effect on both manufacturer and farmer. Factories east of the Mississippi can save themselves by entering into the refining of raw imported sugar. The Wisconsin Sugar company is making plans to take up this new work in June. West of the Mississippi factories will not be able to obtain the raw sugar cheap enough to refine it profitably. The farmers have no such expediency to fall back upon.

Loss to Farmers.
"In case of a reduction to 1 cent the manufacturers would expect farmers to share half of the loss in profits. This would amount to the farmer to 50 cents a bushel. In Wisconsin 300,000 tons of beets are sold annually to the factories. Farmers would lose by the reduction at least $150,000.

"The farmer would be the greatest loser by the elimination or the reduction of tariff on sugar. It is true the farmer can utilize his land for raising of other produce, but growing of beets tends to make the land very fertile. It has been the rotation of beet crops on the farms in this state that has raised the standard of many of them. Should the tariff be removed the farmers would have no market for their beets. They would have to raise grains for which they had no market. Grain raising is harmful to the soil. There are no other industries that call for so great an amount of root produce as does the sugar beet industry.

Sugar Price Decreases.
"The object of the present administration is to reduce the cost of living for the consumer. It will not succeed by reducing the tariff on sugar. Approximately one-half of the sugar manufactured is used in the manufacture of various products like gum, tobacco and candy. The amount of sugar in these products is so small in comparison with the price charged that the reduction in the cost of sugar will not affect price for a package of gum or for a package of tobacco as formerly. The price of candy will not be reduced. In a pound box of candy one-half a pound of sugar is used. Reducing the price of sugar 1 cent will not change the price of the box of candy 12 cent. The loss of the industries and the money they distribute will be far greater than the gain through reduction in the price of articles containing sugar.

"The price of sugar has steadily decreased since the advent of beet sugar. Further production will reduce the cost of manufacture and further reduce the price of sugar to the consumer, and will retain in this country immense sums of money which are now sent abroad for the purchase of raw sugar. The idea that cane sugar is superior to beet sugar is erroneous. It is of the same substance as beet sugar. Beet sugar can be used for all purposes that cane sugar can be used for. There is no distinguishable difference between the two sugars."

Oil the Machine.
"When the sewing machine is not running well it is frequently because there is a collection of dust in the bearings. When this is the case, the machinery should be moistened with kerosene, then turn the balance wheel backward and forward. After the bearings have become clean oil the machine with regular machine oil.

Much Sense in Question.
Small Susie had asked so many questions that her mother became impatient and told her that little girls should not be so curious. "But, mother," presently remarked Susie, without a trace of impertinence or "smartness," "what am I to do if I don't ask questions. Ain't I gotta learn?"

The St. Louis Browns, whatever their percentage in the American League, can figure on leading the sartorial league this year with about an 843 average. When in uniform and not actually engaged in playing ball they are to be togged out in mackinaw reefer of a brilliant Scotch plaid design, in which a lively maroon is predominant. Two dozen of these nobly garments are now in the training barracks of the Browns. The scenic effect on cool spring afternoons when the Browns are playing promises to out-cube the cubists and out-future the futurists.

at Vernon, Cal., on April 29. It originally was scheduled for April 19, and then shoved along to the 26th because the Pacific Coast League baseball season opened at Los Angeles on the 19th. Both fighters are training hard for the twenty-rounds of milling.

The Clabby-McGoorty fight, touted as one of the best middleweight bouts the middle west has seen, will be fought at Denver April 12. The length will be ten rounds, the weight 150 pounds six hours before ring time.

Nick Culp, recruit southpaw hurler with the Cleveland Naps, is not only eccentric in this antic, but in other respects. He recently startled everyone within hearing by asking in what league was Christy Mathewson.

It seemed to his auditors incomprehensible that any ballplayer should not have exact information about one of the greatest pitchers ever in the game, who has been the main factor in the successes made by the New York Giants in the last ten years.

Perry Haughton, Harvard football coach for the last five years, has signed to coach the crimson gridders for the next three years. Harvard has twice beaten Yale, twice tied and lost once. Harvard men are optimistic for the future.

Additional strength of players from the university squad, should make the game more undecided than before. It is not certain who Manager Dandegon will engage to fill the weak spots in the line-up, but he is anxious to get Davies and Hass. These two players were unable to play in the last contest and Neppard and Curtin were brought down and played commendable games. The high school will have their regular line-up and the Cardinals will be greatly strengthened.

Fights Scheduled for Tonight. Joe Rivers vs. Leach Cross, 10 rounds at New York city. "Spike" Kelley vs. Billy Watlers, 10 rounds at Kenosha, Wis. George Chaney vs. Young Britt, 15 rounds at Baltimore.

Calling. Mrs. Lamb—I simply must attend to my social duties, and I need so many things. What are considered proper calling cards this season? Mr. Lamb—Full houses, fours, flushes or straights, my dear.

CARDINALS TO PLAY HIGH SCHOOL AGAIN

Game Between These Two Evenly Matched Teams to Take Place on Saturday Night at Auditorium.

Because of the interest that was taken in last Saturday night's contest between the Janesville Cardinals and the high school five, and the close score of the game, arrangements have been made for another game between them to take place on the coming Saturday night at the rink.

In their last contest both teams put up the best article of basketball ever seen at the auditorium and the interest in the game by the fans was very high. While the high school won the last contest it was nobody's game until the very last and several times during the game the Cardinals were leading.

The high school lads have been putting up a championship brand of basketball and the Cardinals, with ad-

YANKEES ALL SET TO CREATE DISTURBANCE IN THE AMERICAN LEAGUE PENNANT RACE

Great reliance is placed upon Ed Sweeney and Russell Ford of the New York Yankees to be a winning battery and help keep their team in the American League pennant fight. Sweeney did not join the team last year until the season was well advanced, and Ford, the previous year, got away to a bad start, which handicapped him all season.

Sweeney is now on the job, and Ford expects to be a winner. Bert Daniels, the old truck horse of the Yankee outfield, is ready to repeat his steady usefulness of last year, when he kept the battered outer section of the team from going entirely up in the air. He hit the ball hard, belted brilliantly and attended his teammates as much as possible.

JANESVILLE BOOSTER CLUB.
 Several years ago there was started in Madison a club known as the Forty Thousand club to make the town grow and increase the population.
 This club had a very successful career and has accomplished a great deal towards building up the city, improving its parks and streets, and above all has given the people of that city a civic pride and public spirit which have contributed greatly to its growth and prosperity, as well as unity and harmony in action by its business men and public-spirited citizens.

The mass meeting at the city hall, called to consider the advisability of putting Janesville in the race for the state fair, struck the right keynote when it appointed a committee to devise plans for the establishment in Janesville of a club similar to this Madison Forty Thousand club. Ours would be the Twenty-five Thousand club and that such a club would be of great value to the city and would lend great moral and material help to the Commercial club, there can be no doubt.

The Commercial club by the very nature of its work has but a limited membership confined to those who can contribute considerably to its annual expenses and can not be as democratic a club as the proposed Twenty-five Thousand club would be. The latter would give every man in Janesville an opportunity to participate in the growth and development of the city. Its dues would be so low that no man, however limited his means, could afford to refuse to join. Its membership should take in absolutely all classes in the city.

It would be the most representative club that Janesville ever had and it should awaken a public spirit and enthusiasm which would affect all alike, and make any man ashamed to admit that he did not belong to it.
 Its button should be a badge of honor which every citizen of Janesville would be proud to wear. The treasurer of every lodge and the cashier of every bank in the city ought to be an assistant treasurer of this Twenty-five Thousand club to personally solicit and collect the small membership fee and the larger contributions, which those who have means would be glad to give.

It is a common saying that Janesville has too many knockers and not enough boosters. The Twenty-five Thousand club should have such a large membership that there would be no persons left outside to do the knocking. It is the outsiders and those who are not participating in the up-building of the city who usually do the knocking and fault-finding against those who are attempting to do something.

Every citizen should determine to be present at the mass meeting to be held in the opera house on the evening of April 15th, and show by his presence his desire to put Janesville on the map and to bring about a harmonious and united action by all the varied interests of the city for the common good.

THE FINAL DECISION.

Wisconsin's state "pure food" law, insofar as it requires labeling and inspection of adulterated food products, was declared unconstitutional and an infringement of the United States law, by the supreme court of the United States on Monday.

The states have power to enact pure food laws, provided they do not conflict with United States law, the court declared.

"For the reasons stated," says the decision in conclusion, "the statute of Wisconsin forbidding all labels other than one it prescribed is invalid and it follows from the judgment of the state court affirming the convictions of the plaintiff in error for selling the articles in question without the exclusive brand required by that statute must be revised and the cases are remanded to the state court for further proceedings not inconsistent with this decision."

This ends a long argument between Dally and Food Commissioner J. Q.
 Emery and the merchants and the manufacturers. Karo corn syrup was the article directly affected by the decision and despite the ruling of the supreme court we are told by Mr.
 Emery, in an interview on Monday,
 that he did not believe that the supreme court had gone so far as to decide that a state did not have police power to prevent the fraudulent labeling or sale of any food product.

Meanwhile action on the measure
 now pending before the state legislature to declare to present ruling of the commissioner null and void has been postponed until the text of the decision at Washington can be carefully analyzed.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS.

The corn-growing contest for boys sixteen years of age and under, inaugurated by the Gazette, is of interest not only to the boys themselves, but also to the farmers who want to keep their boys at home to grow up on the farm, and become interested in agricultural affairs. Not only that, but it means better seed corn for every farm in the county. If it can be demonstrated that from one acre of corn, grown under careful cultivation sixty to a hundred bushels of fine corn can be produced, it will demonstrate that what can be accomplished on one acre can be done with ten, a dozen, twenty or even larger fields.

 Aside from believing that Rock county can be made one of the largest corn-producing regions in Wisconsin, it also desires to interest the farmer's boys in farm work and offers the various prizes as an incentive for them to try their hand at practical farming on a small scale. Arrangements have been made with Noyes R. Raessler, the champion corn-grower of Wisconsin, to furnish sufficient seed from his famous "Silver King" variety, the prize-winner at various shows, to plant all the acreage entered in the contest. Mr. Raessler will also write

A Chicago man confessed in court that in seeking to gain his wife's love he bought her thirty hats. If he purchased them himself no wonder his case came up in court. Se should shopping and even suggesting what her better half wears as well.

It is surprising that Secretary

The river still flows on and takes

Heart to Heart Talks

By JAMES A. EDGERTON

"I SHOULD WORRY."

Some slang expressions hit the spot better than a sermon.
 They may not be dignified, but dignity is often only a smug front with a large section of nothing behind it.
 Real dignity is all right, but there is a sort of near dignity that is a blood-brother of pomposity and a first cousin of hypocrisy.

The use of slang may not have any of this mock dignity or any of the real variety either, but you can bank on one thing—he is what he seems; he does not pose for something he is not.
 There are people who talk like a dictionary and who make a pussy footed search through their vocabulary for a nice selection of words, but somehow you do not wholly trust these people and feel that they are not as cultured and profound as they sound.

On the other hand there are folks that slam their words around regardless, handing out pat phrases from the vernacular, who impress you as regular human beings with red blood in their veins.

One of the latest pieces of slang—"I should worry and get a wrinkle"—has no pomposity about it and may even be set down by severe folks as dip-pant.

Yet it exactly hits a sore spot in our national life and in human nature generally.

Worry pays less on the investment of nerve force that is put into it than any other form of human delinquency.
 It is a killer of happiness and a destroyer of beauty.

It not only sours our own dispositions, but is unpleasant to those about us.

Moreover, it does no earthly good.
 The chronic worrier usually has nothing to be distributed about except trifles, and most of these are anticipated and never really come to pass. They recall the well known motto:

"I am an old man and have had many troubles, but most of them never happened."

Women are generally the worst offenders in the worry line, although some men can do their good and ample share.

A woman writer recently described the wife who worries over trifles as the worst wife in the world. She is guilty of the chief sin—ingratitude.

Worry not only creates wrinkles, irritation and gloom, but positive ill health.
 There are people who have literally worried themselves into the grave.

They have also made others wish for the grave.

ORDER PLANS DRAWN FOR NEW CONCRETE BRIDGE OVER RIVER

Action Taken by Council This Morning on Recommendation of Board of Public Works.

Acting on the recommendation of the Board of Public Works the City Council this morning passed a resolution authorizing and directing that body and the City Engineer to prepare plans and specifications for a new bridge across Rock river at Milwaukee street of concrete construction. It also empowered the Board of Public Works to obtain such engineering assistance as may be necessary to secure the best possible results in said construction.

The report of the Board of Public Works, adopted by the Council is as follows:

To the Honorable Mayor and Council, City of Janesville, Wisconsin.

In compliance with your instructions of April 3, 1912, in reference to the advisability of constructing a new bridge across Rock river at Milwaukee street, the Board of Public Works would hereby respectfully report, that pursuant to your instructions in good repair, would require an additional outlay of from two thousand to twenty-five hundred dollars; that proposals had been obtained for the material for the same amounting to about four thousand ($4,000) dollars, which amount together with the labor and other incidental expenses would have made the work as then contemplated cost from four thousand ($4,500) to five thousand ($5,000) dollars. To repair the damage to the bridge by the fire and place the same in good repair would require an additional outlay of from two thousand to twenty-five hundred dollars; that proposals had been obtained for the material for the same amounting to about four thousand ($4,000) dollars, which amount together with the labor and other incidental expenses would have made the work as then contemplated cost from four thousand ($4,500) to five thousand ($5,000) dollars.

The amount required under the present conditions would care for the interest charges on a bond issue for a new bridge for at least four years and the life of the present structure could not be prolonged much beyond a period of ten years without considerable cost of maintenance.

Although a small saving in dollars and cents might be made in a reconstruction of the present bridge, the amount at best would be small, and would be more than offset by the inconvenience to the public by closing the bridge for reconstruction, and again at the end of its limited life for the erection of a new bridge.

We are therefore of the opinion under the conditions existing, that a new bridge should be erected in place of the present structure. The damage sustained by the present structure by reason of the fire that occurred on the southern side of the east one-half, clearly indicates that with buildings similar to those that burned and now existing on both sides of the west one-half, that a new bridge should be constructed of a material that will render it as near fire-proof as possible, not only to safeguard the bridge itself but as a safe place from which to combat a fire that might occur on either side.

It is doubtful if a steel bridge with the metal exposed to the flames could have withstood the late fire without having been badly warped or irreparably damaged; a well constructed reinforced concrete bridge seems best adapted to this location. In addition to fully meeting the requirements of a fire-proof structure, it is one of the most permanent type of bridges that could be erected.

The cost of such a bridge will exceed but little if any, that of a first class steel structure, and when its life and maintenance charges are considered it will no doubt prove the cheaper structure. There is practically no end to the life of a bridge of this type and it will require the minimum of expenditure for maintenance. The pavement that is laid practically independent of the bridge is all that will require renewal.

Another advantage accruing to the community in the construction of a bridge of this type is that the greatest percentage of its cost is expended at home. The greatest item of cost is for labor and with the exception of cement, reinforcing rods and piling, we have excellent material for the work at hand.

In the delivery of the material for the work there would not likely occur the occasion for delay that might be anticipated in case a steel bridge was erected which requires fabrication in the shop before shipment and which might occur with so many bridges destroyed by flood at the present time in the middle west.

We would therefore recommend that the City Engineer be directed to prepare plans and specifications for a new reinforced concrete bridge.

Respectfully submitted,
Board of Public Works.

REMOVE DEBRIS FROM RIVER SEEKING THE LOCATION OF SAFE

Current Too Swift for Diver to Go Down After the Rehnberg Safe As Yet.

Workmen employed by the Commercial club to clear the channel of Rock river from the ruins of the fire, made great progress and by taking out large portions of the flooring and roofs of the wrecked buildings affected two new channels in the river, thereby lessening the current in the center of the stream. Only that which was in the center of the stream was taken out and a platform was being built on the west side by the wrecked building formerly occupied by the Miller and Schubert cigar store preparatory to try to locate the Rehnberg safe. This safe will give the diver the most trouble to raise as its location is not certain and the current sweeps past here in whirlpools. Not much work has been done in removing the ruins on the west side of the bridge.

VANDALIC STUDENTS ENTER SCHOOL HOUSE

Interior of School Building in District No. 9, Town of Harmony Badly Damaged.

Serious damage to the interior and equipment of the school house in district No. 9, town of Harmony was done by vandals who entered the building last evening, according to Louis Bier, clerk of the school board, who reported the case to County Superintendent Antisdel this morning. It was learned later in the day that certain of the school children were responsible for the vandalic action and some steps may be taken to punish the marauders.

Entrance was secured through one of the windows which was broken and the desks, book case, were badly smashed and damaged. Books, papers and other valuable equipment were torn and destroyed and an attempt was made to start a fire in the debris which filled the floor. When the teacher, Miss Nellie McKewan, arrived this morning the building was in such a condition that it was impossible to hold school today. This is the second or third time that such destruction has been done in this school house. Stringent action may be taken against the offenders.

ST. PAUL FREIGHT IN BAD DERAILMENT

Extra-Freight Train Strikes Broken Rail at Ingesside, Derailing Ten Freight Cars—No One Injured.

An extra freight train on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad going to Chicago this morning struck a broken rail near Ingesside, a few miles out of Fox Lake, and ten cars left the track. The wreck was a serious one; the cars piling up badly. No one was injured. The engine went over the broken spot, but the flanges of the cars caught and were thrown off the track. Traffic to and from Chicago was delayed considerably as all trains had to be sent up the main line along Lake Michigan until they reached Fox Lake, and then came to Janesville by way of Bardonia. The necessitated extra mileage and all trains were late in arriving at their destination. Conductor John Daily of Janesville was a member of the train crew that was in charge of the freight that met with the accident.

Her plans for the future are indefinite at present, but she intends to spend several months with her mother at Hanover.

GYMNASIUM CLASSES PLAN ENTERTAINMENT

Invitation Affair Will Be Given by High School Girls Next Thursday Evening.

The local high school this week will be the scene of several important functions closely connected with the progress of the school. On Thursday evening an interesting entertainment will be given to the mothers and friends of the gymnasium classes. This affair will be more or less private. The girls of the school have shown marked progress in gymnastics during the year, and they should perform in real style on Thursday night.

On Friday morning, during the opening exercises, an illustrated lecture will be given by a representative of the Great Northern railroad on the Great New Glacier park in Montana. One hundred slides will be shown up on the screen, and the students are preparing for some good instruction on this practically unknown park in the far west.

Friday night will be the scene of the annual rhetorical contests in the auditorium. In oratory, Willard Field, Stanley Judd, Allen Dearborn, and Russell Smiley will participate. This contest will be a close one. In declamations, Evelyn Welsh, Margaret O'Brien, Marion Fletcher, Betty Cordell and Jessica George will contest. All of these girls put up fine declamations and much rivalry is prevalent. Four extempore contestants will participate. Victor Hemming, Olive Reynolds, Mary Cronin and Margaret Denning. In poetry, the winning poem will be read by its author. Only one poem had been handed in up to today.

Heard Will Miller sing at the Lakota Club Minstrel Friday, April 18, at Myers Theater.

Union of home and church, with a concerted effort to work for betterment of children and their education along religious lines was urged by Mrs. Frederick Schott, president of the National Congress of Mothers, in an address before the Religious Education association, which has just held its annual convention at Cleveland.

Primarily responsible in character building stands the home, said Mrs. Schott. She pointed out that for the entire week the church and Sunday school have the child less than four hours. For the remainder of the time, she said, the home is in control and must accept the responsibility.

EXPRESS GRATITUDE FOR AID RECEIVED

Mrs. George Jhrig, 420 North Elm street, has received a letter from her mother who suffered great privations in the Dayton flood. When the water began to rise she went to a neighbor's home. The water finally drove them into the attic, where they were for two days with little to eat.

The Theatre

"BOUGHT AND PAID FOR." It has annexed luscious atmosphere to recent productions because its theme will smoothe the ruffled brows of the many theater-goers who have borne with patience the monotonous list of fireside romances. Here is a play that recalls to one the troubles of his neighbor or the people across the street, and is naturally, carefully and skillfully constructed. Criticism has gone forth that it is hazardous to attempt a work with a small cast because the familiarity bred by the constant stage presence of the actors, but Mr. Broadhurst has set this at naught by clothing his individuals, no matter how often they appear, with versatile tasks, and Manager Brady has found able interpreters as will be shown when the most wonderful play of our time will be presented here direct from its 6 months' run at the Princess Theater, Wm. Brady's Chicago play-house, with the entire original Princess Theater cast and production.

F. F. LEWIS WRITES ACCOUNT OF VISIT TO VOLCANO CRATER

Interesting Letter Describes Trip to Active Volcano of Kilanea in Hawaiian Islands.

F. F. Lewis sends the Gazette an interesting account of his trip to the active volcano of Kilanea on the island of Hawaii which is published in full below. Accompanying the letter was a post card which had been dipped in the molten lava so that one edge was burned. The letter follows:

Honolulu, H. I.,
March 25, 1913.

Dear Gazette:

Since coming here I have written Brother Joseph Dutton of the Leper colony at the Island of Molokai in regard to the propriety of calling upon him. I have received a reply from him in which he suggests the difficulty of arranging such a visit and says that if it is not possible to bring it about he will accept the attempt as an act of friendship and good will. I was not able to bring about this meeting, but Mrs. L. and I have just returned from a trip to the active volcano of Kilanea on the island of Hawaii about two hundred miles south from here.

The time we could be on the ground was limited but we enjoyed every moment of it. Our hotel the Volcano House was located on the wonderful crater within which is occurring daily that which is indescribable in word language. The circumference of this outer crater of Kilanea is about eight miles. It is about six hundred feet below the greater lava plain around it from which its walls drop in sheer precipice. The inner crater, Halemauau, in which the present activities are confined is about one thousand feet in diameter, its depth is four to six hundred feet more. The boiling, bubbling lava seemed to be confined in the main to two or three centers of activity. At times there would be surges of more than ordinary force which would burst with great noises and molten lava and lava rocks would be thrown high up from the general level accompanied by rattling noises as though the side walls were sliding and trembling into the restless, seething mass. It seemed strange that we could stand with feeling of here there had been no loss of life, we thought of the catastrophe at the ice bridge at Niagara Falls, but a short time ago and could not but wonder how long it would be before the fortunate record here would be broken. At times when the swirling gases would clear away from the side wall of Halemauau we could see what appeared to be another brink of yet a smaller crater in which the struggling mass was writhing. About a year ago Halemauau overflowed and streams of molten lava poured out into the larger basin, by such overflows the brink of this smaller crater has been gradually raised till it is now about three feet above level at which it began.

At the Volcano Hotel there has been kept a journal in which guests so disposed have from time to time written of impressions received. This custom has continued for a score or more of years and runs into eight or ten large journals. I made copies of several such entries one of which was as follows:

"We saw it, yes, today, and then returned. We viewed the reflection and I'll be damned. If it doesn't remind me of a state, you've heard it too. Of what becomes of us if we don't do just what we ought. In my prayer tonight I'll tell my tale. In full confession and should I fail just say 'He couldn't help it, I know he tried.' 'Twas said in truth, and he just lied."

Signed, Robt. O'Neal.
Well enough of this, we expect to sail for San Francisco, next Monday, on the Honolulu.

Yours truly,

near movement, which is the first concerted effort on the national plans to redirect forces and readjust the farming population to harmonious relations with the business world.

"For farm products the waste in distribution is admitted to be large. It is to be reckoned for the country as a whole each year in the hundreds of millions, due partly to the perishable nature of many of the farm products.

Price Fluctuations.
"The perishable nature of fruits and vegetables combined with the great fluctuation in acreage from year to year and the production of the same acreage in different years results in a fluctuation of their price, such as is not paralleled by any other articles of commerce.

"For some of the relatively permanent products the margin between the producer and the consumer can be diminished by only a moderate amount. In the case of cheese which may bring the farmers in Wisconsin 13 to 15 cents, it may sell in the south and west in different seasons from 20 to 25 and even 30 cents a pound.

"With vegetables and fruit it is different. In one of Governor McGovern's messages to the legislature he mentioned that one time when the farmers of Waupaca county were selling potatoes at the railway station for 80 cents a bushel, the consumers in Milwaukee were paying 85 cents a bushel. The expense of shipping was six and one-half cents. This made the amount which went to the dealer between the consumer and producer 48 1/2 cents or 43 1/2 per cent."

The Speaker's Co-operation Important.
"He dwelt on the importance of co-operation as the guiding idea. The plan should include co-operation between the producer and consumer, he said, but not to the extent that he would have the same outcry against the farmer that we have against the trusts. He explained that the difference was slight between co-operation and combination.

perfect security at the brink of this inner crater. Halemauau on the windward side of course, and watch all this mighty struggle of nature to get beyond bounds. The clouds of vapor were sulphurous and choking when blown over us we seemed to be watching the final struggles of that force whose mighty labors had been working through the ages to make possible mountain, valley and plain, river, lake and ocean upon which we the last and highest of created beings might move for a brief space of time. We stood close together at the brink so near that parties threw lava rocks that so far as we could judge fell into the mighty struggling mass. We reached this brink about four o'clock P. M. and did not return to the hotel till about eight. The daylight portion was consumed by wandering over the lava bed of the larger crater. We went down by ladder into a lava cave large enough to hold half a hundred men and which was connected with another vertical opening a hundred and fifty feet to one side. Innumerable cards had been tucked in the cracks around the sides by tourists who evidently thought to hand down to coming generations of tourists, the glad hand of fellowship. Then again we approached the many cracks from which the sulphur vapors were being emitted and holding cards from the ends of split sticks scorched them by the heat of fire built by the Master hand before ever shape was given to mountain or valley. I enclose one of these scorched cards herewith.

We found on one side of this inner crater, Halemauau, certain cracks in the lava bed which extended in a line following the line of the marginal circumference and penetrating deeply downward. These seemed to tell of the crumbling away of the adjacent inner wall of the crater and that the portions set off thereby would one day go plunging down into the fiery abyss, and yet there were those who ventured to stand on such set off portions and gaze spellbound into the depths at their feet. We were told that in all the years of tourists travel years past, coming here from Pennsylvania.

BREAKING OUT SPREAD ON LEG

Formed Large Blotches. Itching
Terrible. Ugly Sores Would Break
Open and Run. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured in Few Weeks.

Hiltop, Kan.—"About two years ago I began to notice a breaking out on my leg. At first it was very small but soon it began to spread until it formed large blotches. The itching was terrible, and almost constant. Many nights I could not sleep at all. After scratching it to relieve the itching it would burn so dreadfully that I thought I could not stand it. For nearly a year I tried all kinds of salves and ointment, but found no relief. Some salves seemed to make it worse until there were ugly sores, which would break open and run.

"One day I saw an advertisement of Cuticura Remedies. I got a sample of the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment and began by washing the sores with the Cuticura Soap then applying the Cuticura Ointment twice a day. I noticed a change and got more Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in a few weeks I was cured. It has healed so nicely that no scar remains." (Signed) Mrs. Anna A. Lew, Dec. 17, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment do so much for pimples, blackheads, red, rough skins, itching, scaly scalps, dandruff, dry, thin and falling hair, chapped hands and shapless nails with painful finger-ends, that it is almost criminal not to use them. Sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

For tender-faced men should use Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick, 25c. Sample free.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES

NERVOUSNESS.

(By Howard L. Rann.)

NERVOUSNESS is a jerky ailment which causes musicians, bridegrooms and after dinner speakers to wish they had not been invited to help out. It is caused by the nerves running up and down the spinal column, a n-d paralyzing the hands, feet and tongue in a clammy crescendo.

Nervousness is often fatal to a singer who is appearing in public for the first time in a state of fright and a rattle evening gown, as it is liable to seize the best high ball she has in her collection and d-sharp, causing the music critics to dispose of her case the next morning in four lines of sour adjectives. Nervousness has ruined many a promising debut, and disappointed thousands of people, who got in on a complimentary ticket by seizing the debut in the middle of cadenza and throwing her into the orchestra. Whenever a new grand opera singer attempts to get away from the "Jewel Song" four tones below the accompaniment, it is a sure sign of nervousness of the throat.

The most painful spectacle in the world is that of an after dinner speaker who gets up in a breezy, debonair manner and then becomes so nervous that he forgets the point of every story he comes to and finally wanders off into a sickly soliloquy. Nervousness affects some after dinner speakers to such an extent that they forget anybody else is on the program and pass right by several good stopping places. There would be less nervousness among entertainers of this class if they would write out their remarks and then learn how to pronounce most of the words.

The most rabid and virulent form of nervousness in existence, is that which makes a bridegroom just as he is about to walk the plank in the rear of the officiating clergyman. This malady usually induces him to step on the clergyman's heels, put the ring on the thumb of the bride, kiss his mother-in-law on the left ear and perform numerous minor pleasantries which his wife will remind him of for the next thirty years.

AN EXPERT ACCOUNT OF PORCUPINE CAMP

H. G. SKAVLEM, FORMER JANESVILLE MAN, PRESENTS
PAPER AT MINING
INSTITUTE.

AUTHORITY ON REGION

Montreal Gazette Gives Prominence
To Article on Geological Characteristic of Porcupine Gold Field.

Janesville friends of Henry G. Skavlem, son of Mr. and Mrs. Halvor L. Skavlem, Prospect avenue, will be interested in an account of an article by him on "Some Notes on the Pearl Bottom—Henry Skavlem.

Middle—Shaft House of Mine.
Top—Skavlem Coming Out of Shaft.

Lake Section of the Porcupine District," which was presented at the fifteenth annual meeting of the Canadian Mining Institute at Ottawa in March.

Mr. Skavlem is at present consulting engineer for the Canadian Mining and Finance Company of Timmins, operators of the famous Hollinger mine, and is considered an authority on the geological formation of the Lake and Porcupine regions which are among the greatest gold fields in the world.

The Montreal Gazette gives considerable prominence to the paper which was presented by Mr. Skavlem at the meeting in March, giving it in full with some complimentary comment. In part it follows:

"At the recent Ottawa meeting of the Canadian Mining Institute, H. G. Skavlem, E. M., contributed a most valuable paper, the contents of which invite the studied consideration of those most interested in the geological and economic characteristics of the Porcupine Gold Fields. Having had opportunity as a member of the Hollinger technical staff to observe in detail the petrological and mineralogical features of the Hollinger mine at surface and at depth, Mr. Skavlem is qualified to inform scientifically all those concerned as to the conditions governing the gold and other minerals deposited throughout what he defines as 'the Pearl Lake section of the Porcupine district,' situated in the western half of Tisdal township," and "a portion of a well defined zone of fissuring which extends in a northeasterly direction from a point southeast of Miller lake," the most southeasterly area of it being "covered by a deep overburden of sand."

"It is in this Pearl lake section apart from the Dome properties, that the strongest hopes of Porcupine mine owners repose; consequently the authoritative presentation of this Hollinger research, the vein structures and mining practice adopted, is appreciated by all who comprehend the importance of such initial determinations. In reality the Hollinger management, by acquiescing in the publication of the facts, has manifested the thoroughness with which work there is being organized along the lines pursued by the largest group of mining capitalists at other fields. Mr. Skavlem was given a free hand and described the rocks of the locality very minutely."

Mr. Skavlem's paper is then taken up in full but owing to its technical character it is not reproduced here. Suffice it to say that the whole geological character of the region is gone over very carefully to show exactly the size and character and location of the Hollinger veins, as well as various kinds of rock of which they are composed. In his closing paragraph, he states that "the gold occurs remarkably free from the interfering substance for its economic extraction by cyanidation."

Writing to his father under the date of March 30, Mr. Skavlem says: "Tomorrow is the annual meeting of the Hollinger Gold Mines in Montreal. The stock is selling around $18.00, certainly some price." The report shows reserves of between $11,000,000 and $12,000,000 and the capitalization of the company is 600,000 shares at $5 par, so you see the present market price is over the estimate and the cost of production must be reckoned in the future of the mine. Some high finance all right."

MILTON JUNCTION COUPLE MARRIED LAST WEDNESDAY

Miss Eva Hudson and David Arnold
Take Nuptial Vows at Madison.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Milton Junction, April 7.—Undaunted by inclement weather Wednesday morning April 2, David Arnold and Miss Eva B. Hudson, without making their plans known except to nearest relatives, took the 8:30 train at Edgerton and went to Madison to the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Mahon, cousins of Charlie T. Hudson, and at 11 o'clock were pronounced husband and wife by Rev. A. L. McClelland.

Mrs. Mahon served a wedding dinner to a small company of friends and relatives residing in Madison. At 4:30 p. m. the couple returned to the country home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hudson, where a reception had been planned for the evening. Fifty invitations had been issued, but owing to the storm only about thirty were present. Mrs. Scott of Mt. Horeb and Mr. and Mrs. George Arnold of Milwaukee were the only guests from away.

The reception rooms were appropriately decorated in green and white, while the dining room was radiant and fragrant with emerald and carnation. The bride was becomingly attired in white silk messaline covered with embroidered net and the groom wore the conventional black. A splendid three course supper was served under the direction of Mrs. U. G. Miller, with the Misses Lois Goodrich, Kattie Cole, and Miss Hudson of the Milton school as assistants.

Music was the diversion of the evening. Many gifts were brought and sent to Mr. and Mrs. Arnold, to seal the good wishes of their many friends.

Mr. Arnold is a young man possessing sterling qualities and is well and favorably known in this vicinity. Miss Hudson is a graduate of Milton Junction High school, and has been a very successful teacher for nearly four years, and is an accomplished young lady who is held in high esteem by all who know her. The young couple immediately took up life's duties upon the farm of the bride's father, three miles northwest of Milton Junction. Their many friends wish them a long and prosperous journey through life.

Clogged Bowels a Menace to Health

Constipation at Bottom of Most Serious Illnesses—Avoided
by a Simple Remedy.

DOCIA WOOD

Trace the origin of the commoner ills of life and almost invariably you will find that constipation was the cause. It is not to be expected that a mass of fermented food can remain in the system beyond its time without vitiating the blood and affecting the nerves and muscles. It congests the entire body.

The results are colds, fevers, piles, headaches and nervousness with its accompanying indigestion and sleeplessness. There is only one thing to do and that is to remove the trouble; and when nature seems unable to do it, outside aid is necessary. You will find the best of all outside aids a remedy that many thousands are now using for this very purpose, called Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Many hundreds of letters are received by Dr. Caldwell, telling of the good results obtained, and among the enthusiastic letters is one from Docia Wood of Little River Academy, North Carolina, who suffered with constipation and indigestion so badly that she could not sleep well. Her mind and everything she ate distressed her. She writes that after her mother had given her Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin "she can now eat anything."

It has untold advantages over pills, salts and the various coarse cathartics and purgatives, for while these do but temporary good, Syrup Pepsin purges permanently. The effect of its action is to train the stomach and bowel muscles to do their work naturally.

again, and in a short time all forms of medicine can be dispensed with. It can be bought without inconvenience at any nearby drug store for fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, the latter size being regularly bought by those who already know its value. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address—a postal will do—to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 417 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you.

Buy Your GRAIN SEED AT HOME

Every spring there are thousands of dollars sent out of this county for grain seed; notwithstanding that the best corn in the country is raised here; that there are no better small grains than those already acclimated to this state.

The sole reason seems to be that it is hard to find local men who have seed for sale.

The Gazette is doing away with this difficulty. The Seed Column of the Gazette Classified Page is run for the sole purpose of allowing local seed men to reach the prospective buyers. Each day the Daily Gazette reaches 3000 farm homes and any with grain seed for sale cannot fail to profit by its use.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

A WIFE AND YET A DAUGHTER

THE TIE that binds husband to wife and wife to husband stands above all other obligations, but it does not cancel all others. There are a great many young people now-a-days who seem to think it does.

A young girl who has been the chief reason for living for her father and mother all her life, falls in love and marries. The unceasing efforts and sacrifices which have been making even since she was born, in order to give her pretty clothes, a good education and an opportunity to be with the right people, culminate in the preparations for her marriage.

She accepts a beautiful tresson, a large supply of household goods, and her expensive wedding, with all the love and effort and sacrifice these things mean, as her natural right, and gives her parents the tenderest of farewells in return. You see she is going to a distant city to live. Her husband has an idea that he will find better business opportunities there.

For her it means a new life, so full of fascinating and wonderful possibilities that she has no chance to regret the old.

For them, "the light of the whole world dies" when she is gone.

And yet she has never a qualm. It never seems to occur to her to feel any deep regret or to try to find some other plan of action that will satisfy her obligations to her husband and her parents. She seems to feel as if the old obligation were completely cancelled when she assumed the new.

Do you think she is right?

I don't.

As I said at first, I believe the obligations between husband and wife is the first thing in the world, but not the whole thing. And the man or woman who has any sense of gratitude will never be happy without doing his or her best to fulfill both obligations.

Sometimes the two needs pull so hard in opposite directions that it is not possible to satisfy them both. And then, of course it is the primal tie that exists between the two whom God has made one flesh, which must stand. On a sea voyage I once met a woman who was going to South America to meet her husband whom she had not seen for five years. We supposed he had been in South America all that time, but she nonchalantly explained that he had made one brief trip North. He did not, however, have time to come to the Middle West where she was living with her mother, and as her mother was ill, she said she did not quite like to leave her to go to him. I remember what a queer, unnatural creature she seemed to the rest of us.

But this is the exceptional case.

Ordinarily the two obligations are not mutually exclusive. If she really tries, a woman can usually manage to be a good wife and still a daughter, and a man doesn't need to cease being a son the day he becomes a husband.

ful not to break them), put some around the inside of kettle and on top of chowder; put in water enough to come in sight, stew about half an hour, then add half a pint of milk, let boil five minutes.

Baked Cabbage and Ham—Cut medium-size cabbage in small pieces, boil 15 minutes, uncovered, drain, and pour over it the following sauce:

One tablespoon butter, one tablespoon dash of pepper, one cup milk. Put in baking dish and cover with slices of fresh smoked ham. Bake one hour. Serve with baked potatoes.

Cake Recipe—The following recipe will be greeted with joy by all members of the household. It is certainly cheap, is quickly made and can be varied indefinitely.

Put in mixing bowl one cup of flour, one cup sugar, pinch of salt and one teaspoon baking powder. Melt in a measuring cup a piece of butter the size of an English walnut, break into this an egg (without beating) and fill cup with milk. Pour into the mixing bowl and beat all together rapidly for a minute. Flavor to taste with vanilla or nutmeg.

It is excellent either as a loaf or layer cake. If baked in a loaf, line the pan with buttered paper. A little shredded coconut sprinkled on top of the loaf when it is ready for the oven is an improvement, and chopped nuts are equally good.

A tablespoonful of cocoa added to this recipe makes a devil cake.

By putting in half the ordinary recipe in the pan first, adding cocoa to the remaining half, then pouring, baked once on top, a marble cake is the result.

A teaspoon of pastry spice may be added and baked in a long pan. The result is a Spanish bun.

By baking in gem pans, one can have delicious cup cake for lunch or tea. They can be varied by adding shredded coconut, chopped walnuts, spice, currants, figs or dates.

Another way to utilize this useful recipe is to bake in a flat tin, cut in two and fill with a rich custard. Fresh berries may be substituted for the custard, if desired.

Friendship is the nearest thing we know to religion.

DAINTY DISHES FOR THE SICK.

Dainty food that would be too much to prepare for a family will be greatly appreciated by those who are ill. Make a small case out of a thick slice of bread by scooping out a boxlike center, brush with butter and toast in a hot oven. This little case may now be used for any creamed mixture, and case and all may be eaten. For creamed fish, add a teaspoonful of butter to a teaspoonful of flour; when the butter bubbles add the flour and cook, then add a fourth of a cup of milk, three drops of onion juice, a fourth of a cup of faked fish or the same amount of cooked chicken. Fill the shell and serve, garnished with a bit of parsley.

For scalloped fish or chicken, use the creamed fish mixture and bake in a small ramekin, covered with buttered crumbs.

Fish Souffle.—Force cooked fish through a strainer. There should be a quarter of a cup. Cook a fourth of a cup of bread crumbs with a third of a cup of milk five minutes, add the fish and a half tablespoonful of butter, salt and paprika to taste. Beat the white of a small egg, and add to the above mixture. Turn into a buttered mold or two and bake in hot water until firm. Serve with a white sauce.

Hamburg Steak.—Make well seasoned hamburger steak into small balls, broil or pan broil until cooked, then serve three on a narrow piece of well toasted bread, and garnish with parsley.

Cream Toast.—Take two slices of dry toast and cover with the following sauce: Three-fourths of a cup of this cream added to two tablespoonfuls of cold milk, a fourth of a teaspoonful of salt and a tablespoonful of flour. Dip the toast in boiling water and butter lightly.

The Annoying Part.

"Dicks claims to be a poet."

"I wouldn't mind his claiming to be a poet, if he didn't try so hard to prove it."

Brittleness of Glass.

Brittleness of glass is due to the quick cooling of the hot substance. It is known that constant motion tends to rearrange the molecules in any substance and a similar effect is observed when glass is boiled in a weak solution of salt in water and allowed to cool gradually. The toughness of the glass is increased very much and the effect of quick heating is less disastrous to it.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

By Mrs. E. H. HARRISON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young man of thirty-five. I have a nice little cottage I bought and have it all paid for. I was going with a girl of twenty-five. I loved her dearly, but found out she is not respectable and I gave her up. But I can't get her out of my mind. She is now the fault I am leading a bad life. Three weeks ago I met another girl and asked to see her home. She refused. I thought no more of it. Last Saturday I saw her and she called me to one side and began to cry. I asked her what she was crying about, and she told me that her home was so poor that she was ashamed of it, but it was the best she had. I am sure she doesn't know I have a house. I asked her what she has taken a fancy to me. She said I looked as if I was worried, and she just took a liking to me, but I think I will never like girls any more and I am not living a respectable life. Please tell me what to do.

JOHN.

"I think if I were a man, made in God's image, I wouldn't blame any woman because I am leading a bad life. I would at least own up to my own weakness and say that I live as I do because I want to—which is the truth in your case. If you want to be respectable, you could be."

You are not fit to marry a good girl now. Why don't you brace up and make yourself fit? It's the grandest thing in the world to be a fine, clean, manly man, who thinks clean thoughts and wouldn't stoop to anything low or to anything that would hurt a woman or a child.

If you believe in God, ask Him to help you be decent. If you don't, try to believe in yourself and make up your mind to bring out the best in you, not the worst. Then, when you feel that you are once more a decent man, marry a good girl. There are lots of them—more good ones than bad ones, by far. Meanwhile, leave this girl alone.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1)—Please tell me what it means by wearing a ring on the different fingers of both hands. Is there any difference in what kind of a ring? (2)—Please tell me what it is when your right ear rings. Is someone talking, or thinking good or bad about you? Also the ringing of the left ear and the itching of the nose. (3)—If you gave a lady an engagement ring would it be necessary to give her any other ring when you are to be married to her, as a wedding ring?

BLUR EYES.

(1)—The only significance attached to fingers on which rings are worn is the wedding and engagement finger of the left hand. A ring on the little finger is said to proclaim that the wearer does not wish to marry. Different kinds of rings have no particular significance, unless one takes the meaning of the precious stones. These are too many to mention here.

(2)—Right ear: Somebody speaks well of you. Left ear, the reverse. Nose itching: You will hear news. But these are only foolish superstitions and experience will disprove them. (3)—Not necessary, but customary.

Domestic Science DEPARTMENT

CONDUCTED BY Mrs. Alice Gitchell Kirk

In the dietary of men, "A man is as old as his arteries," has been truly said, and unless he, too, is willing to eat understandingly he will be reminded there is something in arteries, liver and kidneys.

Eat white wheat (certified) bread and muffins with dates, raisins, figs or nuts in them. Remember, we eat bread 365 days in the year, three times a day, so give more attention than usual to the bread, which has all the elements for real, nourishing food.

Alternate potatoes, baked or boiled with skins on, with brown, unpolished rice. In other words, "eat to live and live to eat."

Butters should be pure and they should be good. These two words should never be separated and it is our purpose to keep them together for the health and happiness of our readers.

Materials—Butter, one-third cup; sugar, one-quarter cup; salt, one-quarter teaspoonful; one egg, three-quarter cup milk, two cups; whole wheat, one-quarter pound dates, four teaspoonfuls baking powder.

Utensils—Measuring cup, teaspoon, bowl, wooden spoon, egg beater, muffin pans.

Directions—Cream the butter and the sugar gradually and the dates chopped. Beat the egg and add to the milk. Now alternate with flour in adding to mixture, beating well. Carefully fold in the baking powder and bake in hot, well greased muffin pans twenty minutes.

(Mrs. Kirk's Card Index Cooking Recipes.)

Spring Salad With Cheese Dressing.

Materials—Romaine or head lettuce, Roquefort cheese, one-quarter pound, French dressing, chili sauce, one tablespoon; water cress, two tablespoonfuls.

Utensils—Bowl, fork, sharp knife, ice.

Directions—Wash the romaine or head lettuce and wipe perfectly dry. Prepare a French dressing for serving four persons. Rub the Roquefort cheese smooth with the dressing and add the chili sauce and also the water cress chopped fine. Pour this over the lettuce and serve.

Young dandelions may be used instead of lettuce, which makes the salad of greater value in the spring.

THE FATAL BELL

The night was dark.

The moon was hid.

An awful crime.

That night was did.

With a hoarse hiss of hatred, the tall man in black slunk from the alleyway. Deliberately drawing a murderous-looking knife, he crouched behind a nearby tree and poised it for the fatal stroke.

"Ha! Ha! Ha!" laughed he. "Ha! Ha! Ha!"

Laurel and Russa and the fair Clarice, all unsuspecting, all wrapped in the glamour of requited love, strolled waist in arm, along the deserted street. Ah, but was it deserted? Was wonder tree as innocent as it looked? (See footnote.)

"At last!"

A tall man in black stood in their path and there was a flash of steel. At the same moment—

The sound of the bell smote the quiet air. It was a supper-bell. With a sigh of regret the obedient girl deserted her book until after supper, when, impatient ready, if you stick around you may learn what happened.

Lady Baltimore Cake

The Most Popular Cake This Season

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

This is considered by many cooking authorities the finest cake that can be made, though in reality it is not at all difficult.

K C Lady Baltimore Cake

One cup butter; 2 cups granulated sugar; 1 cup milk; 1 teaspoonful rose water; 3 1/2 cups flour; 3 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder; whites of 6 eggs, beaten dry.

Cream the butter and beat in the sugar gradually. Sift together, three times, the flour and baking powder, and add to the butter and sugar, alternately with the milk and rose water. Lastly, add the egg whites. Bake in three-layer cake pans. Put the layers together with the following frosting.

NOTE—The cake is a large one and sets at Women's Exchanges for $1.50.

Frosting for Lady Baltimore Cake

Three cups granulated sugar; 1 cup boiling water; whites of 3 eggs; 1 cup chopped raisins; 1 cup chopped nutmeats; 5 figs cut in thin slices.

Stir the sugar and water until the sugar is dissolved, then let boil without stirring until the syrup from a spoon will spin a long thread; pour upon the whites of the eggs, beaten dry, beating constantly, meanwhile. Continue the beating until the frosting is cold; add the fruit and spread upon the cake.

The First Cocoa

The first cocoa ever made for drinking and cooking purposes, was prepared by C. J. Van Houten in 1828. From that time to this, Van Houten's Cocoa has been pre-eminent—because of its rich, chocolate flavor. It's the original Dutch process Cocoa. All the way from Holland comes this pleasing Dutch nutriment, so that you, too, now can enjoy it.

VAN HOUTEN'S RONA DUTCH COCOA

Van Houten's Rona Dutch Cocoa costs less than domestic Cocoa because it goes twice as far. One half a teaspoonful makes a cup of the delicious food-drink. A 25c can makes 64 cups. When you want to make cakes, jellies, puddings and dairy dishes, use Rona Cocoa instead of chocolate—the flavor is much richer.

Ask Your Grocer

Just say to your grocer, "I want Van Houten's Rona Dutch Cocoa in the big red can." One up of its delicious, chocolate flavor will convince you that it is the best cocoa on the best. Two sizes—10c and 25c.

SHENANDOAH

By HENRY TYRRELL
Founded on BRONSON HOWARD'S Great Play

A Stirring Story of Military Adventure and of a Strange Wartime Wooing

Copyright, 1911, by G. P. Putnam's Sons.

"It's all right," he shouted. "We're holding them, and we'll lick them yet!" The general rode on with his staff and escort, and in a minute more they were a distant, confused mass of dust and flying hoofs. Suddenly from the westward came another rolling cloud with a thunderbolt in its midst—the yellow-haired, boyish Custer, the youngest general in the whole Union army, a dashing cavalry leader whom the enemy hesitated to shoot at, declaring that if he was not a southern cavalier he rode and fought like one. Custer, now at a tearing gallop, flew up to Sheridan, threw both arms around him and kissed him on the cheek in an irrepressible burst of boyish enthusiasm; then was off again like the wind.

It was not yet noon—Sheridan had come up at 10:30—and now the whole stream of men on Winchester turnpike was flowing southward instead of the other way, full of fight again. Another tense hour sped by—two hours—and still Sheridan was busy reforming and rearranging his lines, passing the whole front of his infantry in review, until satisfied that their shattered morale was sufficiently restored to be relied upon once more for aggressive work. The enemy's fire had noticeably slackened, but this was a sign to be acted upon with extreme caution until its significance could be definitely ascertained.

General Sheridan was still obsessed with the idea that Early's aggressiveness must be accounted for by heavy reinforcements and that possibly Longstreet had joined him, after all. When toward the middle of the afternoon the Confederates made a bold, though unsuccessful, sally against General Haverill's division and the right of the Sixth corps, commanded by General Buckthorn, the suspense became unendurable. Buckthorn received a note from the commanding general conveying an order, which he promptly transmitted to General Haverill, as the latter occupied the position from which the movement could be most effectively made. "Send Lowell's cavalry after that exposed battery at the edge of the woods, with the object of bringing in as many prisoners as possible."

"Colonel Lowell has just fallen! Will send his command under new leader, to be chosen at once."

A cavalry officer with haggard face and bloodshot eyes, bareheaded, jacketless, his shirt open at the throat, rested in a lull to the east of Middletown after a hurried inspection of his troops to the left of the Union line. The colonel of a New York regiment rode up, proffered a flask and said: "Colonel West, have a drink with me before you go in again. You seem to need it, and I expect at this rate you'll be either in hades or in glory before another hour passes."

Contrary to his reputation, habit and principle, Ketchival West accepted the kindly offer and swallowed a full sized man's drink, known in trooper parlance as a "slug." Then, as if suddenly possessed by a demon, he swung out on his side and, turning to his men with the signal cry of "Now for the charge!" led the cavalry in a brilliant sortie across the fenceless meadows and at the line of straggly woods where the advanced Confederate battery still belched forth defiance.

There was no withstanding such impetuosity. The charging troopers came back with flying colors, several captured guns and a score of prisoners—first herald of the turning tide of victory. But now their wild leader was not riding at their head. No one had seen him fall. Whoever knew what had happened to the individual forgot it in the jubilant excitement over the general result achieved.

The Federal line was now invincibly re-established. At 4 o'clock Sheridan ordered the grand charge, which was begun under his personal direction by the Nineteenth corps on the right and taken up by the successive commands along the line to the left, the cavalry on the flanks charging at the same time. Then the Confederate batteries opened up, and the roar of artillery and the splashing crash of exploding shells mingled with the fierce roll of the musketry.

Colonel Robert Ellingham, in the southern ranks, wondered what was happening at Belle Bosquet. In the forenoon he had swept with his men past the old place, facing northward, and seeing everything in flight ahead, capturing prisoners and recapturing their own men who had fallen into Federal hands, including the elusive Edward Thornton. Now the Confederates were passing the same point again, hurrying and still more hurried in the opposite direction, driven from the field they thought they had won; in the worst rout of which poor Bob had ever been a part.

"By the great horn spoon!" said General Buckthorn to General Haverill. "We're going to have as much trouble in holding our men back from charging the enemy now as we did to stop their retreat this morning."

It had been the intention of General Sheridan to hold back his left after the enemy had been dislodged and by advancing his right to force the Confederates to the east of the valley pike, thus cutting off their retreat to Strasburg and Fisher's hill. But even as the veteran Buckthorn had whimsically remarked, the troops were so bent upon avenging their reverses of the morning that there was no restraining them, and the whole line pressed on irresistibly until the old camps on Cedar creek had been regained, together with enough prisoners, guns, wagons and battlefields to turn previous mortification into riotous joy and make matter for a rousing dispatch to send to Washington.

CHAPTER XVIII. The Valley of Desolation.

WHILE Early's troops were still running and Sheridan's revealing the customary sad truce was declared in order to permit the removal of the wounded from the field and the decent disposal of the dead. Not only soldiers, but civilians from far and near flocked upon the scene. From Winchester, Kernstown, Newtown, Middletown, up from the valley and down from the mountains came men and women, searching amid the heaped-up horrors where late the battle lines had stood. Some came for love and some—alas—for loot. Sunset reddened the ghastly field; then fell the inky pall of night, and the lanterns of the ghostly rattle-trains twinkled in the gloom far beyond the circling camps.

Gertrude Ellingham, Madeline West and Jenny Buckthorn, led by Sergeant Barker and followed by the faithful Josephus, made up one of the most indefatigable groups of rescuers. They had ascertained that Ketchival West was not among the lying Federal troops, either in the celebrating camps or in the hospital tents. Now at last they sought, a pitiful, uncertain comfort in satisfying themselves that he was not among the dead on the field.

"General Haverill told me," said Gertrude, "that although only I mean the southern troops were defeated they managed to carry off a considerable number of prisoners. I believe Colonel West is among them."

"I know Captain Heartsease is," murmured Jenny forlornly.

"If nothing worse has befallen my brother than that," added Madeline, "I suppose I ought to be thankful, as at least he will now be out of the awful fighting. But it is a cruel injustice if that wicked wretch, Captain Thornton, is still to be at large."

They rode on in silence for General Buckthorn had seen to it that they were provided with mounts—until at last Gertrude exclaimed:

"I can't rest any more. I'm going on. Josephus will follow me. You girls will be all right—won't you, dears?"

"Where are you going?" cried the other two agast.

"On to the ford, and then to Fisher's hill, or Strasburg, or wherever they have gone. Don't mind me. I'll bring you comforting news, or I won't come back at all. Good night."

And before they could persuade her—that was what she fled from now, as from unbearable torture—she rode off exultantly into the darkness of the mountain shadows like another Valkyrie, bearing her stricken warrior's soul to the glorious and blissful Valhalla.

He approached the clerk in a pawnshop and looking all about him, inquired: "Keep telescopes here?" "Yes, sir," replied the clerk, "want to see some?" The man nodded and the salesman soon returned with a spy-glass. "Here's the best one we have in the place." Governor Carey of Wyoming, while on a recent eastern trip, was present at a social affair where a couple of the guests referred to court procedure and spoke of the exacting attitude of lawyers in examining a witness.

One of the guests said he was inclined to think that some lawyers went the limit in the matter of questioning, and the governor remarked that he was reminded of a case that had come under his observation.

A witness in a particular case had been examined by the lawyer of the plaintiff, the governor said, and was turned over to the lawyer for the defense for cross-examination.

"Now, then, Mr. Smith," began the legal one, "what did I understand you to say that your occupation is?"

"I am a piano finisher," answered the witness.

"Yes, I see," persisted the lawyer, "but you must be more definite. Do you polish them or do you move them?"

BUFFET CAR LICENSE MEASURE IS KILLED

Various Other Important Bills Are Considered at Session of Legislature Last Night.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, April 8.—Assemblyman Bove's bill taxing buffet cars on railroads $100 per year each was killed last night upon Assemblyman Hansen's motion, after Mr. Peavey had sought unsuccessfully to ensure its passage under a reduced fee. He proposed that it be $50 per car. Mr. Bove said there was no reason why buffet cars should not be taxed like other cars.

The assembly sustained the governor's veto of the Pfennig bill, which was protested as a discriminatory measure in its application to would-be hunters not full citizens.

PRELIMINARY CONTEST IS HELD FOR ORATORS

CASCARETS CLEANSE LIVER AND BOWELS

The millions of Cascaret users never have Headache, Constipation, Bloating or Sick Stomach.

It is more necessary that you keep your Bowels, Liver and Stomach clean, pure and fresh than it is to keep the sewers and drainage of a large city free from obstruction.

Are you keeping clean inside with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passage every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system the constipated waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels.

No odds how badly and upset you feel, a Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing.

MUSHROOM SEASON FULL OF DANGERS

Warm Weather Likely to Result in Rapid Growth of Fungus.

Within a few days residents will begin the annual gathering of mushrooms from country road sides and meadows.

The rains of the last few days, followed by warm weather and the sunshine, will cause the fungus growths to spring up rapidly, and as usual there will be several cases of poisoning.

While there are several varieties that may cause some degree of digestive disturbance and there are kinds that one person may eat with perfect safety while another would be made ill, there is one variety certain to cause death. There is no antidote once the victim has swallowed one of the deadly Amanitas group, some of which are to be found in Wisconsin. While no hard and fast rules can be used to distinguish other varieties that are none the less the Amanitas, like the rattlesnake, advertise itself as follows: "It has 'white gills'."

It has a ring on the stem just beneath the cap.

It has a cup, or scales, at the base of the stem.

Poison Tests Worthless.

A mushroom that bears these marks should never be gathered. Lovers of the mushroom are warned against placing reliance in poison tests when in doubt about the variety of a growth. The only safe way is to leave the suspicious fungus strictly alone. The poison tests are worthless. The idea that poisonous mushrooms can be rendered harmless by boiling and then washing thoroughly in cold water is erroneous.

The mushroom gatherer can easily familiarize himself with the few edible varieties growing in public parks, door yards and on the outskirts of the city.

Many Edible Varieties.

All varieties having black gills and which dissolve with age into an ink-mass can be eaten with safety. They, of course, must be eaten before turning black, but usually growths in several stages of ripening will be found in a patch so that identification will be comparatively easy. Among the black gill species are the "shaggy mane" with a more or less bell shaped creamy white cap, growing in dense clusters. These are common from spring to fall and are among the best edible varieties. All puff-balls are edible if eaten when the flesh is white and solid.

SIX WHOLE BLOCKS FOR CAPITOL PARK

Mellen Assemblyman Proposes Means of Purchasing Large Area in Heart of Madison Business District.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., April 8.—A unique plan for the enlargement of the state capitol grounds here has been worked out by Assemblyman Bove of Mellen and incorporated into a bill. The measure provides for the acquisition by the state of six business and residential blocks of the city of Madison, between the present capitol grounds and Lake Monona. Instead of raising money immediately to purchase this land, the bill would empower the capitol building commission to authorize in the name of the state mortgage certificates secured by trust deeds or mortgage upon the lands. These certificates are to bear interest at a rate not to exceed five per cent and shall be sold for not less than their par value. They shall be payable in not less than five years nor more than twenty years from the date thereof upon terms to be described by the commission. The land so acquired is exempted from taxation. Under the terms of this bill it will be twenty years before all of this property comes to the state and in the meantime the rent of the buildings is turned into the general fund. Mr. Bove figures that the rent received from the property would more than pay the interest upon the certificates, and that the state would be paying for the land at a price one-third less than it could ten years from now.

The idea of extending the state park originated a number of years ago when the late Senator Stout of Menominee introduced a bill in the legislature to appropriate $2,000,000 for the acquisition of this property. Real estate men estimate that the property has increased in value one-fourth since the original idea was proposed.

The Bove bill is meeting with considerable favor and since it imposes no additional burden on the state immediately, there is some hope of its passage.

Dr. McCarthy's idea for the recall of state commissioners has been presented in the form of a bill by Assemblyman Mahon. Governor McGovern is opposed to the idea. Dr. McCarthy has issued a monograph upon this subject in which he declares that without the adoption of this feature the government of the state is becoming too centralized.

ORFORDVILLE

Orfordville, April 7.—Sunday, April 6th, was the date set for the reception to be given by the congregations of the Luther Valley churches to the new pastor of the East church, Rev. Ivor Ramseth, and his family. The day was clear and bright, and the event called not only the congregations, but many interested friends drove to the church from Beloit, Brodhead and Orfordville.

In the forenoon Rev. A. Ostfeld of Chicago was in charge of the service and preached the sermon. At noon a sumptuous dinner was served by the women of the East church congregation, in the spacious basement of the church. The afternoon program opened about two o'clock. Mr. O. P. Gaarder, chairman of the reception committee, presiding.

Rev. A. Ostfeld led in the devotional exercises, and afterwards delivered an address on the relation of congregation to pastor. Out of his many years of experience he gave many valuable suggestions.

Rev. O. J. Kvale, pastor of the sister church at Orfordville, brought greetings and spoke enthusiastically of the union between the two Norwegian Lutheran synods in America.

Rev. J. A. Brown of Beloit, representing the other two church in the circuit, Bethlehem church of Beloit, and Jefferson Prairie church, followed Mr. Kvale's address, with a speech of welcome, and in a very happy way, presented Rev. Mr. Ramseth and his wife with a purse, as a gift from the congregation. Mr. Ramseth responded, thanking all present for the gift and particularly for the cordial welcome extended to him on every hand since his arrival in southern Wisconsin. In an address which won the approval of everyone, he asked the support and co-operation of the congregation.

The addresses were interspersed with vocal solos by Mrs. Amanda Rostad and Rev. Mr. Kvale of Orfordville, and Miss Signe Fossum and Hans Fossum of Beloit.

The large gathering, the felicitous and appropriate speeches and the marked spirit of cordiality made the day one long to be remembered.
